Eneco Wind UK – Tullo Wind Farm

Background

Tullo Wind Farm is Eneco Wind UK's first fully operational wind farm in the UK which is based in Aberdeenshire, Scotland.

What the campaign was about

Mistral supported Eneco in all of its work with the local community close to Tullo Wind Farm, which included activity during the consultation period for the extension plans.

How was it done

- Mistral helped arrange open days for the local schools and members of the public at Tullo Wind Farm, which gave them a guided tour of the wind farm
- Mistral also supported consultation for the extension of Tullo Wind Farm by arranging and attending public exhibitions about the proposals, as well as keeping local media continuously updated about the extension work

Results achieved

- As a result of the open days, Eneco gained positive feedback from local schools and members of the public which helped continue its great work with the local community close to Tullo Wind Farm
- During the consultation period for the Tullo Wind Farm Extension, the public exhibitions helped Eneco receive mainly positive feedback from members of the public about the proposals which assisted the planning application for the extension development
